SA EXAM PAPERS

QUESTION 6: POST-1994 DEMOCRATIC IDENTITY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Identity is our understanding of ourselves. Our identity is made up of puzzle pieces that include where we live, our experiences, family, ethnicity, race and culture.

When we try to understand our identity, we might see that the pieces do not fit together.

Roman Bearden (FIGURE 6a) was an American artist, author and songwriter who worked with many types of media, including collages depicting American life.

Lunga Ntila (FIGURE 6b) is a South African photographer who works with digital collages. She explores themes of identity and healing.

6.1 Discuss how the artists in FIGURE 6a and FIGURE 6b reflect identity.

Use the following guidelines:

- Imagery and use of colour
- Relationship between the figures and the background
- How the pieces fit together or do not fit together
- Expression of identity or of a sense of self

(10)

6.2 Write an essay about TWO artists who express their identity in post-1994 democratic South Africa (ONE artwork per artist).

You should refer to the following:

- Description of the artwork
- Formal art elements
- Materials and techniques
- Artists' expression of identity

Continuities: Unbroken or consistent existence over time

QUESTION 7: GENDER ISSUES: MASCULINITY AND FEMINITY

'Men act and women appear.'

– John Berger

The art critic, John Berger, was talking about how traditional artworks depicted women as passive and men as active.

- 7.1 Do the artworks in FIGURE 7a and FIGURE 7b refer to the idea of women as passive and men as active?

You should refer to the following guidelines:

- Actions, clothing and appearance of the figures
- Significance of the surroundings (activity within the setting)
- Use of materials and style
- The importance of white in each composition (10)

- 7.2 Discuss how artists addressed ideas about gender by analysing TWO specific artworks (ONE artwork per artist).

You should use the following to guide your response:

- Gender issues addressed
 - Formal art elements
 - Materials and techniques
 - How the artists try to make the viewer think about gender issues (10)
- [20]
